- ditno. to commence sale of products with full local support in the UK
- Technologies and Solutions, in operation since 2009 will represent ditno.
- The UK government have released research that SMEs are putting a third of their revenue at risk because they are falling for some of the common misconceptions around keeping their business secure online¹ ditno.'s vision is to Make Security Simple, enabling organizations all over the world to protect their data regardless of where it is hosted.

ditno. has partnered with Technologies and Solutions, a leading distributor of IT solutions in the UK. T&S's Technical Director, Steve Tritton said he was "delighted to partner with such an innovative organization and already had clients who wanted to pilot CloudGuardian, ditno.'s product suite."

Technologies and Solutions have been operating since 2009 and design, install and maintain networks, deliver VOIP solutions and provide remote and on-site support. They have a large customer base including international companies such as Toll and Coverwise.

IT Security is becoming increasingly important as breaches are becoming more widespread and the impact to a company brand and bottom line can be devastating. In the UK, the government developed the Cyber Essentials Scheme aiming to increase the awareness and knowledge of cyber protection. However despite large numbers of breaches in the press there remain many organizations who are unprotected. In February 2015 the UK government released research that indicated two thirds of businesses believe they are not at risk of cyber attack. The reality is the opposite and cybercriminals target SMEs because they hold a large amount of sensitive data but lack the tools to protect themselves. Products such as NetGuardian and WebGuardian can help organisations to become compliant. Cyberinsurance premiums may also be reduced through adherence to the standards.

ditno. was formed in 2012 by an international team of security, technical and business specialists. Together they have created the best performing, most agile and bullet-proof security solution in the market. Registered in Sydney, Australia ditno. is a privately owned company with international patents pending for it's innovative products.
